The Strategic Planning Process

The 2012-13 school year is our one hundredth year of serving the youth of our parish. It is in light of this centennial anniversary as well as the recommendation of the superintendent of schools, Dr. Kathy O’Hara, that the Holy Trinity School Advisory Committee (SAC) initiated a Strategic Planning Committee to draft a five year strategic plan for our school.

The Strategic Planning Committee (SPC) consisted of SAC members, school administrators, parish leaders, teachers, and parents. The process began with an examination of our current mission statement. The updated mission statement illustrates the importance of the whole child – body, mind and spirit. It also communicates how we form students to be disciples of the Catholic Church. The SPC and the faculty also identified key values that are emphasized through our school programs.

The SPC then performed a SWOT exercise that identified the strengths and weaknesses of our current school situation as well as the opportunities and threats we might face in the future. Information from the SWOT exercise and a school parent survey was utilized to create goals in six different areas: spirituality, academics, finances, marketing/enrollment, facilities, and technology. The first five areas were suggested by Dr. O’Hara, and the SPC decided to add the sixth area of technology.

Each year the goals will be reviewed and updated by the school administration and School Advisory Committee to ensure that continual school improvement is a priority.

Thank you to everyone who contributed to the creation of the Five Year Strategic Plan for our school. Our one hundredth year of serving as educators is an exciting milestone for our parish. We look forward to beginning our centennial school year (2012-13) with a strong vision and plan to carry us into the next one hundred years.
